2. Human Rights Due Diligence

A) Key Considerations

- Officers/employees shall identify, prevent, and mitigate any negative impact on human rights and conduct human rights due diligence when considered necessary to fulfill their responsibilities. Such due diligence shall include identifying and evaluating any actual and potential impact on human rights, responding to problems identified, recording response activities, and communicating with stakeholders. Human rights due diligence shall consider the following:
 - ① Include negative impacts on human rights that may be directly or indirectly triggered in the course of the company's business activities;
 - ② Consider the location and size of workplaces, human rights risk exposure, characteristics and features of business, and other various matters depending on the political and economic conditions and characteristics of the host country; and

- ③ Recognize that human rights risks gradually change as the company's activities and business environment change, and continue to conduct due diligence.

B) How to Conduct Due Diligence

- We shall endeavor to identify and inspect any actual and potential negative impact on human rights related to their business activities at home and abroad according to the following process.
 - ① If human rights risks are identified in major domestic and foreign workplaces, we shall conduct human rights due diligence, analyze the situation, and make improvement plans;
 - ② In principle, due diligence shall be carried out by internal experts, and if necessary, it may be conducted with the support from external experts;
 - ③ In some cases, groups and stakeholders who may be potentially affected may be interviewed;
 - ④ We shall identify any potential and actual impact during due diligence, share the evaluation results at the company-wide level regarding the potential impact, take measures to prevent or mitigate such impact by carrying out relevant procedures, and endeavor to remediate and resolve any existing impact; and
 - ⑤ We shall conduct due diligence using a checklist that identifies key elements related to human rights management.

endeavor to address such negative impact.

- iii. When we have not directly contributed to negative impacts on human rights but the negative results are related in a complex way to our operations, production, and services through our relationship with other entities (e.g., suppliers), while we are not directly responsible for devising plans for systematic improvement, but we shall play a certain role.
- iv. We shall use the influence that the company has to prevent or mitigate the negative impact on human rights, and otherwise may strive to strengthen our influence by collaborating with the relevant entities to protect human rights.
- v. We shall operate a grievance mechanism that shall serve as an effective remedy for potentially affected stakeholders.

D) Communication with Stakeholders

- When stakeholders raise concerns about human rights impacts, we shall take responsibility in communicating with them.
 - ① We shall communicate responsibly and transparently with our stakeholders, including affected groups, individuals, and investors.  - ② We shall include actual and potential negative impacts in the official reports we publish and may consider independent verification procedures to enhance the credibility of the reports.
